

February 2012

EXECUTIVE CHANGES

Stribling & Assoc. Adds Two Top Agents

Stribling & Associates, one of New York's premier residential brokerage firms, has expanded its team with the appointment of two new sales agents. Stacey Bradie and Priscilla Bijur have joined the firm at Stribling's Upper East Side office.

"Stacey and Priscilla not only have impressive corporate backgrounds, but both women have also selflessly dedicated years to volunteering for organizations around the city," said Elizabeth Stribling, President of Stribling & Associates. "Both their business and communication skills as well as their knack to help others make them excellent brokers, who understand how to provide exceptional service to all of their clients."

For the past six years, Bradie has been an active volunteer at the Trinity School, where her children attend. She has held numerous positions, including her most recent titles as President of the Parents' Association and a member of the Board of Trustees. Before becoming a broker, she worked for 18 years in the marketing department of Clarins Paris, where she helped develop the cosmetic brand's presence in the United States.

Bijur, who will continue to serve as a board member of the Citizen's Committee for Children, a 67-year old child advocacy organization in New York, joins Stribling as a sales agent. For the past 10 years, Bijur has dedicated herself to working with nonprofits, including Bottomless Closet, a nonprofit designed to help disadvantaged women in New York City secure and keep jobs.